From Chairman's Desk

Dear Engineers,

The novel Corona virus has introduced the novel concept of organisations and institutions across the world making mandatory 'work from home' policies. At a time when the global pandemic requires proactive and aggressive defence, countries worldwide have adopted this formula, notwithstanding the risk it poses to the economy.

The flexibility this affords is empowering and builds a better work-life balance. Secondly, by forcing even the most reluctant consumers into the digital market, Covid-19 pushes them to familiarize with digital platforms, and this confidence endures in the post-Covid era. Education has changed dramatically, with the distinctive rise of e-learning, whereby teaching is undertaken remotely and on digital platforms. Despite the on-going Covid19 pandemic, activities like World Telecommunication & Information Society Day and World Environment Day was celebrated at IEI Belapur local centre using online platform.
